Independent support for foster carers

When a foster carer faces an allegation, complaint or cause for concern, we know it can be a very difficult, confusing and distressing time.

The Fostering Network can offer foster carers an experienced independent support worker who will offer emotional support, advice and information and give practical guidance.

We have offered this confidential service to foster carers for over 15 years and have the expertise and understanding to help you through this challenging time.

To access the service, you need to contact your supervising social worker. A referral will be made to us and we will provide you with a support worker.
